UK digital advertising spend grew by 5% in H1 2023

- In the first half of 2023 spend reached £13.8bn - nearly doubling in 5 years.
- Video display was the fastest-growing format with an increase of 11% recorded, and was the only area to grow by double digits.
- Non-video display grew too, but by just 3% YoY and therefore overall display was up by 8% compared to H1 2022.
- Search continues to drive UK digital advertising revenues and accounted for 50% of spend, with 5% growth taking it to £6.96bn, although growth was significantly slower than in H1 2022 (16%).
- Classified was the only format to see a decline, falling by -13% and Other revenue remained largely flat with a -1% change.
Mobile share reached 60% in H1 2023 and spend has increased by £671m over the past year, whilst non-mobile remained steady at £5.5bn.

YoY Changes:
- Mobile: +89% in H1 2021, +5% in H1 2022, +9% in H1 2023
- Non-mobile: +28% in H1 2021, +35% in H1 2022, -0% in H1 2023
Search revenue nearly reached £7bn in H1 2023, but shows a slowing rate of growth YoY. Classified revenues fell by -13% in H1 2023, continuing a long-term trend of decline.
The difference between YoY growth rates of digital advertising and UK GDP have narrowed in recent years.
